What are Rights?

- Rights are reasonable claims of persons recognised by society and sanctioned by law.

Case Study where Rights are denied :-

Prison in Guantanamo Bay:-

- About 600 people were secretly picked up by the US forces from all over the world.
- They were put in Prison in Guantanamo Bay, an area near Cuba controlled by American Navy.
- They were linked to the attack on New York on 11 September 2001.
- The US army arrested them, interrogated them and decided whether to keep them there or not.
- There was no trial before any magistrate in the US.
- Amnesty International reported that the prisoners were being tortured in ways that violated the US laws.
- The UN Secretary General said the prison in Guantanamo Bay should be closed down but the US government refused to accept those pleas.

→ Why do we need rights in a democracy?

- For democratic elections to take place it is necessary that citizens should have the right to express their opinion, form political parties and take part in political activity.
- Rights are guarantees which can be used when things go wrong.
- The government should protect the citizens' Rights.
- In most democracies, the basic rights of the citizen are written down in the constitution.
